26.03.2024: Transmitting Secapp alerts to other systems

Product News · https://www.secapp.fi/docs/general-documentation/product-news/transmitting-secapp-alerts-to-other-systems/

26.03.2024

Article will be updated.

Secapp can now reach people through even more channels than before. In the future, information from Secapp alerts or messages can be directly sent to other systems, such as the info screen of the company.

This integration has been implemented through a web linkage and interface, which is a common way to integrate different web services and thus transmit information through the interface to another system.
We will provide more information about this useful feature and its implementation later. If you have any questions now, please contact myynti@secapp.fi.